

Clariant Pakistan receives Environment & Health Excellence Award (AEEA) 2009

Clariant Pakistan recently received the prestigious Environment & Health Excellence Award (AEEA) in recognition of Clariant's policies, practices, processes and products in helping achieving economic and social development without harming the environment and natural resources. This award will further strengthen Clariant's reputation as a socially responsible company operating in Pakistan.

48 companies were honored this year, among them are global enterprises operating in Pakistan, such as BHP Petroleum Pakistan, Engro chemicals Pakistan, Glaxo Smith Kline Pakistan, Pepsi Cola International and Philips Pakistan. The AEEA is organized by the National Forum for Environment and Health on following best practices for environment protection.

The National Forum for Environment & Health is a non Governmental, non-profit organization, established on June 1999, with aim to facilitate, promote and help create environmental, health care and educational awareness in Pakistan.

It's the third time that Clariant Pakistan received this award, this time on its fulfillment of the global standards of ISO14001-2004 and OHSAS 18001-2007.

"Clariant is proud of getting the recognition from the industry and fellow companies in Pakistan on its commitment to the well-being of the society and it will continue on its effort on sustained development," said Vaqar Arif, Head of Finance, Clariant Pakistan Limited who received the Award from Mr. Hameed ullah Afridi , Federal Minister for Environment, Pakistan.

Clariant Pakistan Limited is a prideful brand and the market leader in Pakistan. The company is proactively committed to taking into consideration environmental protection and safety in all its activities. The company has been honored by the Karachi Stock Exchange for the Top 25 Companies Award for the seventh consecutive year in 2009 for its overall performance.
